Product: Event Schedule app creator

Event Informatics Pvt. Ltd. was established in the year 2014-2015 by the promoters Aashika Shetty, Jinal Shah and Rinkal Shah at Innovation & Entrepreneurship Development Centre, Sardar Patel Institute Of Technology, Andheri(West),Mumbai.

The premier product of the company is the Event Schedule Creator App. Event Schedule Creator App is an app which helps in scheduling events, meetings, etc by helping the organizer to decide time of it. The basic idea behind the development of the product is to have an app which will assist the organizer/manager in deciding time of event/meeting intuitively when maximum number of target people can attend. It does so by syncing all calendars of target audience and then sending that info to organizer calendar as number of people busy or free in particular slot, the organizer's app will then suggest the suitable time to conduct event without allowing him/her to access details of individual's calendar. Besides this feature there are features like create your event group, keep track of your discussions with inbuilt chat applications, create share and work on documents with your whole team of organisers, invite other groups, know more about your event and access event galleries and videos which will help all task related to event organizing easy.
